

RARE VIEWS OF THE CITY

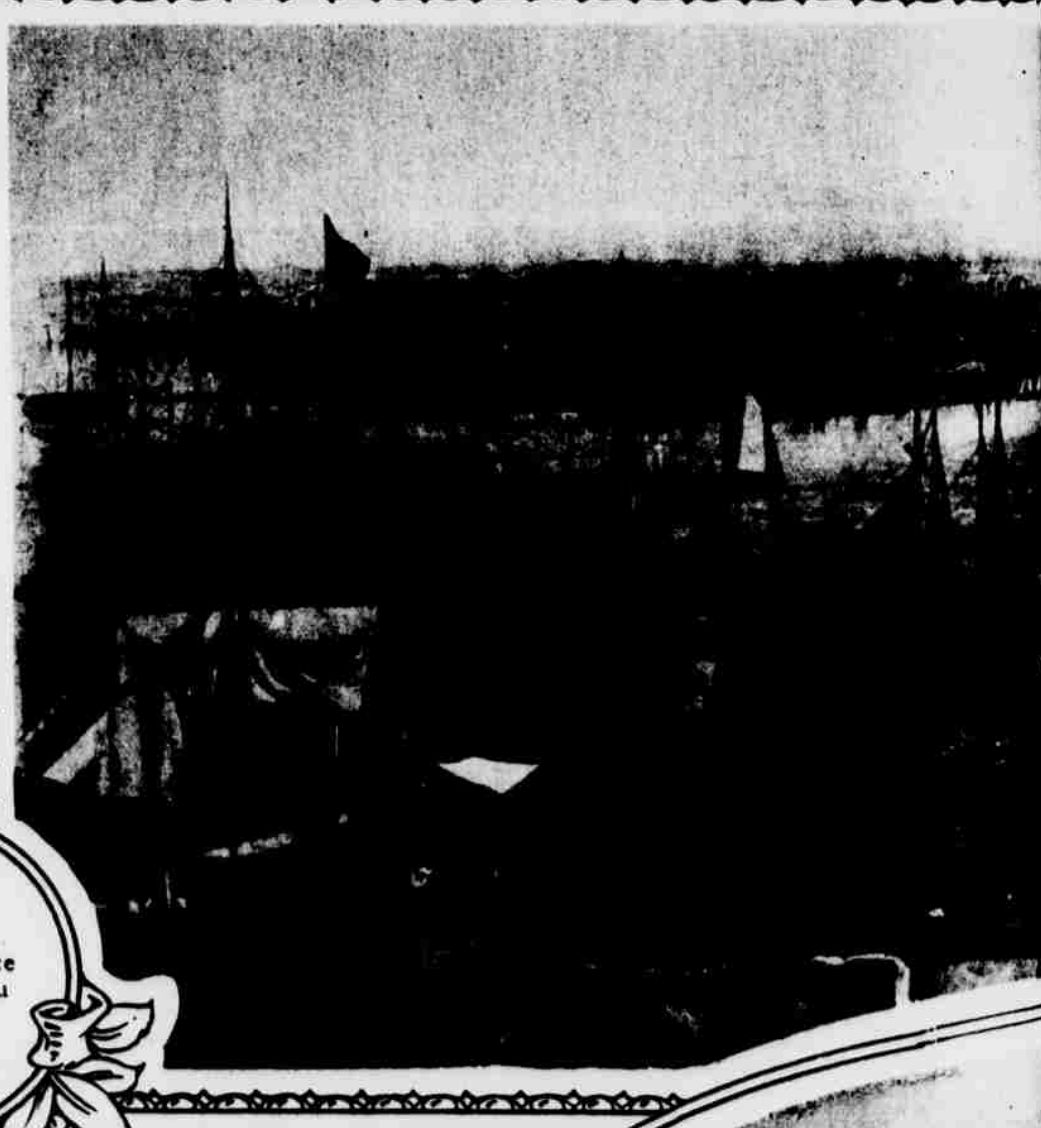

Reproduced from prints in the collection

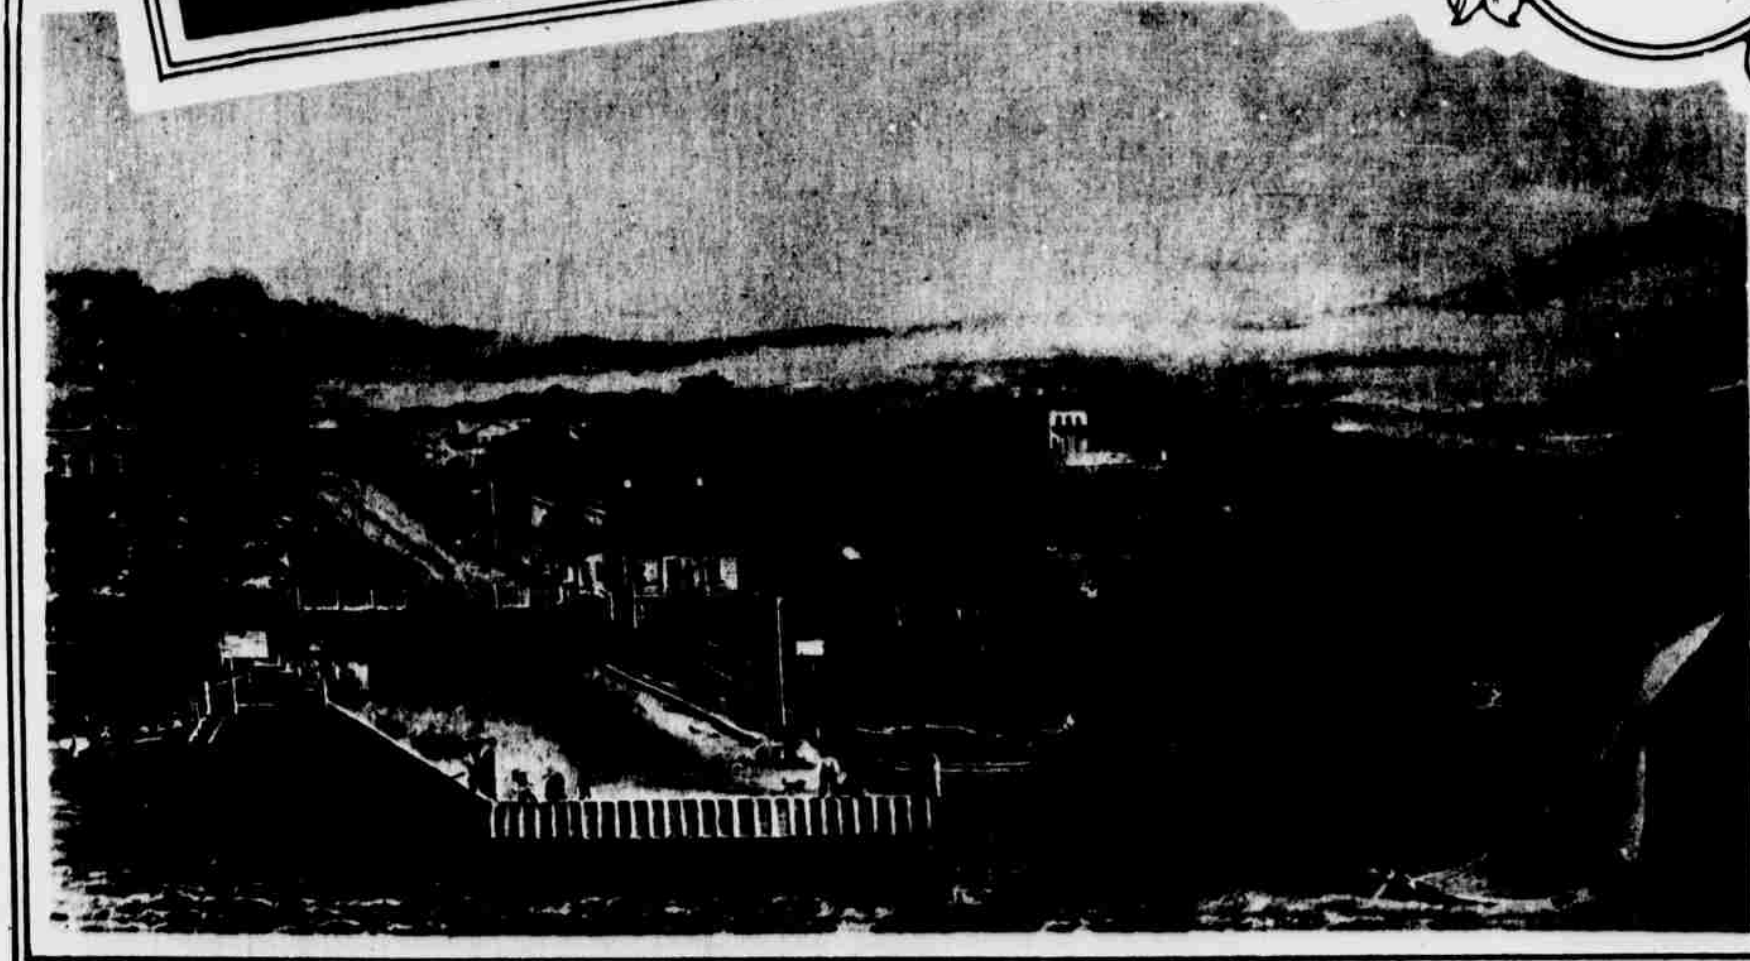

View from Trinity Church, looking down Wall street, about 1830. This is the most famous and valuable print in the collection. Only three others are known to be in existence. By H. Reinagle.

Front view of New York Post Office on lower Nassau street in 1840.

View of Brooklyn from the Wall street ferry in 1853, when the docks were filled with clipper ships and steam vessels were few.

At Left—Jones Woods, on East River, between Sixty-sixth and Sixty - seventh streets, in 1867, showing the boat landing and ferry house. Here the great Caledonian games were held in that year.
